K-Love Radio is a very important part of daily life for our household. I personally enjoy listening to contemporary Christian music because it is wholesome and uplifting, but I enjoy it even more when I hear my children singing the songs. I don't have to worry about what they will hear as I do with other radio stations.

Changing to an LPFM broadcaster would possibly mean that I would not get a good signal way out hear in the country and would be sorely disappointed. With so many negative images and music in our society today, I would think that a change of this magnitude would not be in the best interest of our public and parents would once again have to worry about what their children are exposed to on the radio.
